Master Class in Brief Psychotherapy

with Jeff Zeig, PhD
& Lilian Borges Zeig, MA

You are invited to attend a four-day supervision workshop to enhance skills and promote both personal and professional growth.* This program is held at the actual Erickson Home, recently purchased by the Foundation to preserve this historic site. The Master Class is open to licensed, experienced mental health professionals.

Based on expert modeling and direct feedback of attendee's clinical work, this intensive workshop is EXPERIENTIAL and limited to twelve attendees. Each attendee will assume four roles: two as patient; one as supervisor; and one as therapist with a peer.

Each participant will get an experience as a demonstration patient with Dr. Zeig and Ms. Borges Zeig; will rotate into the role of therapist for another attendee; be a patient with a personal issue you would like to work on (not a case); and work as a supervisor of the peer-therapy dyad. The instructors supervise each trio.

The environment is intimate and supportive. The learning experience is rich and fertile. Although focused on Erickson-derived approaches, this program is an opportunity to advance clinical skills no matter what your professional orientation.

The Master Class is an exceptional opportunity for therapist growth and development.

*Attendees must sign up for the complete four-day program.

Each Master Class is a unique experience.
Participants often choose to attend multiple classes.
